

ADULT FICTION WRITING

Fridays,
9:30-10:45
March 24, 31
April 7, 21 & 28
No class April 14
Space is limited,
call to register.

Author and writing teacher, Kim Kovach, offers more creative ways to explore character, point-of-view and dialogue in this five-week fiction writing program. New and experienced writers are invited to sharpen fiction writing skills and banish writer's block through in-class writing and homework assignments.

Kim Kovach teaches fiction writing workshops for adults and creative writing classes for elementary and middle school students in Westchester and Fairfield Counties. She is the author of six fiction books including a short story collection, A Few Bad Decisions, and middle grade fiction books, Welcome to Appletown! and Surviving Vertigo, as well as the Kitchawan Kenny chapter book series. Please visit her website at www.kimkovachwrites.com

Follow us on Social Media

