

MANY ROADS LEAD TO A PUBLISHED BOOK: THREE AUTHORS TALK ABOUT THEIR PUBLICATION JOURNEYS AND THEIR NOVELS

THURSDAY, MAY 9, 7PM

Jimin Han

Jimin Han is the author of The Apology named a best audiobook of the year by Booklist as well as best book of the summer by the LA Times, Vanity Fair, Shondaland and Apple Books among others.

Marcia Bradley

Marcia Bradley is the author of The Home For Wayward Girls, a stirring debut novel about a young teenager's escape from her abusive foster parents "ranch" for bad girls and her subsequent attempt to build a new life as an adult.

Jennifer Manocherian

Jennifer Manocherian's Alpha Bette takes place over one day and is told through the multiple POV's of Bette's nearest and dearest whom she mysteriously summons to dinner that night.

Publishing a book is rapidly changing today, and writers have more ways than ever before to bring their books to readers. Three Westchester County authors share how they navigated the publication process and will discuss the current state of the publishing business. Q & A and book signing to follow with books for sale, courtesy of the Katonah Reading Room.

Online registration required or use QR code

bedfordfreelibrary.org

