

NEW PROGRAM SERIES: CREATIVE AGING

Storytelling with Photography

My Cuppa Scilla Overfilla, A Little Scilla Won't Kill, My Scilla Will Thrilla

Telling a story can take different forms. Words. Drawings. Photos. Words with drawings. Words with Photos. Photos with words.

What kind of photos? Portraits? Landscapes? Details?

In this workshop, participants will concentrate on using photography and creating a rough outline of photo possibilities to tell a story of a person, place or event that they wish to investigate, document and share. They will use knowledge of light, composition, tonality and options on their 35mm digital camera or phone camera.

They will explore locations, settings, timing options and genres of visual art to explore ways to express their ideas.

This class is for older adults who like to be challenged and are able to commit to the entire eight weeks. The class will culminate with an art show (date to be decided).

The Bedford Free Library is pleased to announce the first in a series of "Creative Aging" programs in our Library. These unique programs offer art instruction to older adults in our community. This initiative is generously funded by The Worby Charitable Foundation. David Worby has committed to fund this program for five years. We are excited about this partnership and committed to helping our patrons age in place with access to high quality, challenging arts programs. The Library will be offering several Creative Aging programs a year.

Mondays,
March 3, 10, 17, 24, 31
April 7, 14, 21
1-3pm

*This workshop is for older adults.
Must commit to all eight sessions.*

Registration required.

Register online or scan the

QR code below.

Space is limited.

Teaching artist Lori Adams

Lori's fine art photography career in the Hudson River Valley spans 25 years.

In addition to owning and operating a commercial photography in Hopewell Junction, she has extensive teaching experience. She has taught workshops for all ages. She has also worked on over 20 science books for children. Lori loves photographing nature and her hobby is gardening. This will be Lori's second time teaching a Creative Aging workshop at the Bedford Free Library.

Bedford Free Library
32 Village Green
Bedford, NY 10506
914-234-3570

www.bedfordfreelibrary.org