

A SPECIAL EVENING WITH JOURNALIST AND LOCAL AUTHOR HALEY COHEN GILLILAND

The New York Times praised the book as “an astonishing story ... a haunting investigation and an unforgettable testament to resilience.”

Author Haley Cohen Gilliland

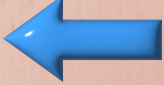

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 5PM

In this extraordinary work, Gilliland traces the courageous journey of the Abuelas de Plaza de Mayo, a group of Argentine grandmothers who refused to stop searching for the children stolen during the country's brutal dictatorship. During the military regime that decimated a generation from 1976-1983, hundreds of pregnant women were “disappeared”—abducted, forced to give birth in captivity, then executed while their newborns were given to police and military families.

Don't miss the chance to hear Gilliland share the story behind this remarkable work of history and human rights. Register online. Wine and cheese will be served.
